“Behold, the eyes of the Lord are on those who fear him, who hope in his merciful love, to rescue their souls from death and keep them alive in famine.” (Ps. 33) I’ve loved that psalm very much. It tells me that the Lord keeps His eyes on me always, even in difficult times, even when I don’t always show God my love. My reflection book tells me that ‘there is nothing halfway about God’s love for us’; he loves us all the way, whether we are good or bad. Let us thank God for his love for us.

I often thank God for the good family that He gave me. I often look at the pictures of my family and thank God for them. When I look at the picture of my mom and dad, I remember the time that my mother took her mother out to the West Coast, and Dad stayed at home with us kids. One night, Dad went to town to call my Mom on the phone. Mom was worried that something must be wrong at home, but Dad said, “No, I just had to hear your voice.” In those days we did not make long distance phone calls like we do today. My sister reflected, “If we ever doubted that Dad loved Mom, we never doubted it after that summer.” Why don’t you take some time to reflect on the ways your family has shown their love for each other.

God bless all of you!
